State Strategy Group Meets Calif. Finance Head, Confer

To Discuss Request For Buildings and Campus Improvement; Action Expected

Student Strategy Committee journeys to Sacramento tomorrow to meet Arlan Stockberger, the State Director of Finance, in an appeal for definite action on San Francisco State's request for funds for new buildings. The appeal will be made by use of figures on the number of teachers that San Francisco State produces for the State, the amount of money produced and received in the college, and a comparison of the money given to other colleges for their comparative size and needs.

Figures for the amount of taxes that San Francisco produces for the state treasury will also be considered.

Student prexy, William J. Smith, head of the strategy committee states that he "Thinks definite action will be taken within a month." Ed Smith, Bud Decker, and Norman Zeck are the other students on the Strategy Committee.

The specific building requests are a new Administration Building, gymnasium, and library. Plans for an entire new campus set-up are being contemplated. The proposed plan calls for an administration building on Laguna Street, with the auditorium running back toward the present Annex B. This would allow for a gymnasium to be built where the present administration building is. However, no definite steps for specific plans in this building project will be taken until the committee receives approval of campaign.

'CALL IT A DAY' PUT ON TONIGHT AT 8:15

Tonight at 8:15 in Annex B2, San Francisco State's College Theater will present "Call It A Day," as its part of the fourth annual play festival sponsored jointly by San Francisco State and Humboldt State Colleges.

Miss Jessie Casebolt, San Francisco State Drama director, states that tomorrow evening at the same time and place, Humboldt State will present "The Bishop Misbehaves" with Mr. Garf Wilson directing.

Holders of student body cards will be admitted free and seats are reserved for those students who presented their cards earlier in the week. General admission is 25 cents.

"Call It A Day," takes each of the Hiltons, a typical London family, through an entire day. The new

Fairmont Hotel Terrace Scene of Annual Dance; Buckingham's Orchestra

Dance Bid Sale Closes Tomorrow; Public Address System Obtained Here

Saturday night, November 20, at 9:00 p.m., following the annual Stanford-California Big Game, the Fairmont Hotel Terrace Plunge will be the scene of the Annual Junior Prom, featuring Jack Buckingham's orchestra.

Bid sale will close at the price of $1.75, tomorrow, November 19. Admission at the door Saturday evening will be $2.50 per couple.

LOUD SPEAKERS SECURED

A public address system with two loud speaking amplifiers has been secured by co-chairmen Roy Laugesen and Vern Rees, high and low junior presidents, respectively.

"San Francisco State students have one of the greatest opportunities in the history of the college in having a part in Post Game festivities at one of San Francisco's most popular hotels," declared Laugesen and Rees. "A very efficient committee has chosen ultra-modern dance programs," they continued.

"Those State students who may have had the opportunity of hearing Buckingham's orchestra during his former engagement at Club Deauville, realize that a first class program will be provided," they concluded.

ARRANGEMENTS COMMITTEE

The Junior Prom Committee on Arrangements consists of the following: Madeline Ghiglion, Gladys Kitterlin, Lois Herber, Dorothy Rothe, and Ruth Bradly.

Mr. and Mrs. Cassady, Dr. and Mrs. Homan, Mr. and Mrs. Farmer, Mr. and Mrs. Harden, and Dr. and Mrs. Treutlein will be patrons for the affair.

CONVENTION PLANS DRAWN TO CLOSE; FINAL DATE NEARS

Strenuous activity, with satisfactory completion of plans for the Alpha Gamma Convention as their goal constitutes the function of the various committees working under Max Williamson, chairman of the Ninth Annual Western Section Convention to be held in San Francisco on November 26, 27 and 28.

Registration of guests, followed by tea at the home of Nola Keller, and ending in an evening banquet will be the activities of the first day of convention.

Honored guests at the luncheon to be held at Bernstein's Fish Grotto, will be the Alumni of the local fraternity chapter. A news contest, formal initiation of new members, and dinner dancing at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley will be featured on Saturday.

Sunday morning will witness a festive breakfast, followed by dismissal.

Alumni chapter members plan to issue a daily paper during convention, the first issue will appear two weeks preceding convention.

BLOCK "S" PLANS CHRISTMAS DANCE TO END SEMESTER

Mike Driscoll, Block "S" prexy, and the W. A. A. are making tentative arrangements for a Christmas, noon-day dance. The dance will be held in the gym some time during the last week of school before the Christmas vacation. It will be a two hour affair, climaxing this term's work.

Preparations will be made with the cooperation of Norman Zech, president of the music federation, and aid will also be given by the other school organizations. Seventeen to twenty-two of State's best musicians will be invited to present the music for the dancing.

Arrangements will be made for each class to contribute money which will be used to pay for prizes and refreshments of some kind. A very nominal fee will be charged at the door, and this money will be turned over to a Christmas fund.

Mike Driscoll expressed great hope for the success of the Christmas Jinks by saying, "If all plans go through, it will be the biggest affair that State has seen in noonday activities, since the inauguration of State as a co-educational institution."

Alpha Mu Has Dinner

Alpha Mu Gamma will hold its first regular evening meeting this evening at 6 p.m. in the activities room. The meeting was preceded by a dinner. Guests at the meeting were many alumni members who thus far this semester have been unable to attend the club's meetings.

RALLY TALENT SHOW TOMORROW AT 12:00

Tom Thorpe, Doug Cary, Jane Callum, and John Pichotto are scheduled to appear in tomorrow's rally, which will be held in the gym at 12 o'clock. Tom Thorpe will give some of his inimitable piano presentations, Doug Cary will offer an instrumental solo and also sing, Jane Callum will offer vocal selections, and John Pichotto will render a solo on the harmonica.

This rally is third in the second series of Rally Talent Parades, and also the first basketball rally. The rally will attempt to raise enthusiasm for the opening games of the basketball season, one game being scheduled for Friday night and one for Saturday night. Friday will be the date for the game with Utopia Parlor, and on Saturday will be the game with the Signal Oil Co.

At the rally, the judges will select two contestants as winners among the participants of the contest. The two selected will be eligible to enter the gala Rally Talent Parade which will climax the series. As in the preceding parades, three silver cup trophies will be presented to the three top-ranking competitors. These trophies will be donated through the courtesy of Jenkel Jewelers of 150 Post Street.

Annual Pictures For Low Juniors

Low Juniors will meet today at 11 a.m. in room 117 to complete plans for the Junior Prom to be held Saturday, November 20 at the Fairmont Terrace Plunge. Pictures of the group for the Franciscan will be taken Friday, November 19, at noon. President Vern Rees urges all members to be present for the picture.

W.A.A. Plays Mama To Sport Program

Last Saturday, amid mammies and watermelons, W. A. A. played hostess to representatives of various high schools of the bay area on the campus of State College. There were tournaments of basketball, baseball, volleyball, and kickball. One hour was devoted to the playing of progressive games. Luncheon was served in the Frederic Burk Auditorium, which was decorated in the Dixie Land theme. This theme was carried out in programs, invitations, favors, and entertainment. According to Babette Lou, president of the W. A. A., "the affair was a great success, and provided a day of fine entertainment for all the girls."

DEBATERS LEAVE MONDAY FOR SOUTH TRIP

Going to the southern part of the state with the intention of taking some of the sunshine out of the "Sunny South" for their debating opponents with their arguments on the question, "Resolved: that the National Labor Relations Board should be given power to enforce arbitration in labor disputes," three State debating teams leave Monday on their field trip.

The teams, composed of a men's team, Bill Rose and Patricio Megino; a women's team, Muriel Senk and Jeanette Jennings; and a mixed team, Wallace Gallagher, will meet the teams of the important colleges and universities in Southern California.

While on the way to Los Angeles, they will stop on Monday, November 22, at 11:00 o'clock in Modesto to meet the Jaysee team twice, and that afternoon in Bakersfield to meet the Jayvee team. They will debate the negative in those three debates and will stay overnight in Bakersfield.

On Tuesday, November 23, they will resume their campaign by stopping off in the morning to debate Whittier and after lunch will go on to Los Angeles where they will meet the U. S. C. team and Cal. Tech team in the afternoon. That night they will meet the Pasadena Jaysee debaters. They will stay overnight on the U. C. L. A. campus and will meet them the next morning. They will then start the return trip and stop over in Fresno to meet Fresno State at 2:00 in the afternoon.

All the debates will be held on the National Labor Relations Board question, although in some of the meets they will uphold the affirmative and in some they will argue the negative.

Absolute final deadline for return of Senior picture proofs to Fisher Studios, 165 Post Street, will be December 1. This information was released by Franciscan editors today.

Finance Director Hears Plea

Tomorrow at ten o'clock the immediate future of San Francisco State College will be discussed by State Director of Finance Stockburger, and members of the S. F. State Strategy Committee.

Just what will be the outcome of this discussion is impossible to predict. But one thing is certain. That the conciliatory attitude that has marked the activities of the committee in the past will be superceded by an attitude of quasi-aggression.

For too long now the needs of this college have been considered last. Now that funds for construction are available, by every right in the world this college should receive its just share.

And that's what the Strategy Committee will tell Mr. Stockburger.

And if Mr. Stockburger is really interested in seeing the affairs of this state properly handled, he will lend favorable ears to our request.

And if Mr. Stockburger does see the validity of the request, he will make recommendation to the Governor.

And if Mr. Merriam is willing, within a very short space of time, San Francisco State will no longer be forced to attend classes in a "Shambles of a Fire-Trap" building!

Take Part In Library Poll

Response to the poll conducted in last issue's Gater, concerning the proposal to keep the Library open at night, was most gratifying.

In order to enable the committee to get an even better cross-section of the student body's wish on the matter, the form for the poll is printed again this issue.

For those of you who didn't participate, fill it out and return it to the Student Body office.

If enough students express the desire to have the library open at night, steps will be taken to satisfy the request.

But—don't fill out the form affirmatively unless you are sincere. And if you feel that to keep the library open at night will not benefit you, say so!

But, however your sentiment on the matter, take part in the poll.

Co-operation In Xmas Drive

Once again student organizations with widely diversified interests join hands to work for the success of a common cause. This time it is to assure the success of the drive to raise funds for Christmas assistance of needy families whose children attend the Nursery School.

The Executive Board will sponsor a dance, charge admission in groceries, devote proceeds to the cause. Students are contributing dimes, nickels, pennies, etc., as their part of the drive. And now, in today's issue comes the story that the Block "S" and W. A. A. will also sponsor a dance, at noon, charge ten cents admission, also devote proceeds to the cause.

With all this support of the drive, its success is automatically guaranteed, and this student body may rest assured that the college will have done its part!

Go To The Prom Sat!

Saturday is one of the biggest days in Pacific Coast football. Saturday night will be the biggest social event of the Fall Semester for S. F. State.

Celebrate the results of the big game with the Junior class, which invites you to its prom in the Fairmont Hotel.

Nowhere else in the whole bay area will it be possible to have such a good night's fun, at such low cost, as at the Junior Prom.

Vernon Rees and Roy Laugesen, the powers of the Junior Class, are sincere when they guarantee the best prom possible this Saturday night.

Come and celebrate big game night with S. F. State at the Junior Prom.

Around the College there has grown a rumor . . . A vague and garbled story concerning an invidious and powerful organization, at once affiliated with Hitler and the various subversive influences that are undermining this country.

Because we feel strongly the call to duty that our organization voices, because the U. S. Legion stands for all that is American, we have been chosen and we accept the task of tracking down these mysterious characters that slink through the corridors of this, our college, our alma mater, defiling all that is fine and pure and chaste and good.

By devious and ingenious means I have uncovered enough evidence to justify our tarring and feathering the culprits upon their being identified. And identify them we will before they irreparably soil the name and tarnish the fame of San Francisco State College. . . .

Lortnoc Htrib . . . this is the evil sounding title of this wayward and Borgian group . . . the decoding is not yet complete, but J. W. Gallaghar, local authority, has rendered the opinion that it comes from a Sanskrit phrase meaning xes ylefas . . . or emos nuf . . . we will report later.

We are serious; this must be STAMPED OUT . . . even though Lortnoc htrib numbers among its members many well known Staters . . . these deluded souls are in the group because of the horrible and disgusting blackmail methods used by these unethical persons who instituted the Lortnoc.

The group proposes an IpsoDipso-Nympho State College . . . the to-be-hated password is Gah Meat Gah Meet . . . when you hear this murmured in your ear or shouted across the co-op . . . identify the villain and leave a note in #859. If the offender happens to be a female, yes, there are women, young girls fallen into these wicked ways, give them no mercy . . . report them!

This influence must be driven from our campus . . . Oh baby, yes . . . join the drive . . . let's have the bare facts . . . down, down, DOWN, I say, with Lortnoc Htrib. . . .

PERSONALITIES

Thinking mayhaps it will be of interest, we are presenting two personalities this week—sisters on our campus—the Senks—as different a pair of girls with the same mama and papa as ever we've seen. Shirley, nineteen, and Muriel, twenty. Shirley seems to be the oldest. She is serious and studious and is ambitious to go into the field of law or psychology, leaning toward the latter. She is interested in journalism, and has written several short stories. She has been active in school organizations since she has been here, among them Phi Lambda Chi, Alpha Phi Gamma, Advisory Council, and she was president of her sophomore class. She works on the switch board for Santa Fe. Her personal interests are reflected in her appearance. She wears tailored suits, mannish hats, always comfortable shoes, and an air of business-like ambition. She has something of the look of the typical career woman about her. She has a dry but sharp sense of humor, and is a thorough good sport. Muriel, the oldest who seems like the youngest, is ambitious too and works for her education. She is an attractive girl and dresses in attractive clothes. As a matter of fact there is no better dressed woman around here and not in the collegiate manner. She is colorful in dress and manner, almost vivid. Always ready to pitch in and work. She is an entertaining conversationalist and is interested in people she associates with. Both of the girls are debating for State now, but that and their parents is the only thing they have in common.

FASHIONS

Fashions kind of lose their significance when the rainy season is here. You leave home all dolled up and in half an hour the water is trickling down your neck, leaving your starched collar all limp and the carefully-curled ends of hair as straight as a stick. But, anyway, don't let winter put you into a state of blacks, browns, and drab greys. At least not your hats and things. If you have a dark coat, which most of us do, for goodness sake get a pair of bright gloves, scarf, or hat to relieve the monotony. If you have the courage, make that new coat green, blue, or rust. You're treading on dangerous ground with colors though, so watch your step.

KINIBBER SAUCE

We who are to be educators were quite shocked at the discovery of a little book "The Joyous History of Education," by Walland Hendrick that was turned up on one of our scavenger trips to an old bookee shoppee. The book is a masterpiece of satire on the educational system of about twenty years ago. Just to give out a sample, the appendix is filled with definitions like this.

"Dogma of co-education — the proposition that a woman is no better than a man.

Adolescence — the topic under which immodest ideas are reduced to pedagogical terms.

Nature study—a visit to the zoo to examine monkeys is nature study, or when one monkey examines another monkey that is nature study." Though it was written about twenty years ago, it is still sharp enough to tickle the ribs of anyone in education who has a sense of humor.

Our thought for today, girlies, is "Remember it is not the things you don't know that does you any harm, but the things you are sure of which ain't so."

And our thought for last week is "Don't let your minds be so open that every idea runs in one side and right off the other."

FINIS

STOP! READ! WRITE!

Many students have inquired as to the possibility of keeping the library open several nights during the week. It has been thought by a committee to keep the library open two weeks during mid-terms, and during final week from the hours of 7 p.m. until 10 p.m., and during the Xmas Holidays in the day time. The questions below should be answered, and turned into the Student Body Office today if you want prompt action by the committee in charge.

1. Are you in favor of the plan?.....
2. Are you practice teaching?.....
3. Are you taking education courses?.....
4. Would you benefit by the plan?.....

Dear Editor:

We do not agree that "if the library were to remain open at night" there would be no more need for letting these super-popular books out at night.

"The daily jam of students waiting for reserve books for night use" is made up on the main part of commuters who would not be able to take advantage of the open library in the evening.

I, for one, spend more than two and a half hours a day in travelling to and from school, and with four o'clock classes it would not be at all conventient to stay an hour or so later to use the reserve books.

I think that I express the view of a number of other State commuters.

HOOP SEASON OPENS TOMORROW AS SQUAD MEETS MARE ISLAND

By ERNIE MIGUEL

Much of the guesswork connected with prognostications on the calibre of material Coach Dan Farmer has on his 1937-38 basketball squad will be removed tomorrow night in the State gym. The occasion will be the formal opening of the season with a contest against the Mare Island Marine Apprentices, in which the casabans will receive their first real trial of the year.

So far this year, the team has had informal games with several athletic clubs around the city, but this will be the first game under the tutelage of Coach Farmer. Even without the aid of Farmer, the team has been successful in their practice contests, but Friday's game will be their first game against A1 competition.

Led by Billy Hammond, a fancy ball handler, several of the veterans and some of the new material have shown promise in the practice sessions. The center position, however, has proven to be the weak position on the squad. Vacated last season by Cy Atkinson, this spot might prove to be the "fly in the ointment" throughout the season. The only two veteran centers from last season have not shown much promise so far this year and will have to improve greatly if they expect to be able to fill the shoes vacated by Cy. Lanky Al Luntz, who understudied Atkins last year along with Madigan, has so far given disappointing performances in the practice games, as has Madigan. Farmer will have to bank his hopes on their improvement or on the performances of frosh Bob Bragg.

HAMMOND, SANZ GOOD

Farmer intends to try Hammond and Joe Sanz in the pivot spot in the near future. These two have been the backbone of the State attack so far with their passing and "deadeye" shooting. With them in the forward positions, Coach Dan will have little worrying to do about who will bear the brunt of the State attacks. Sanz was the mainstay for three years on his high school basketball team, and Hammond has had years of experience in countless games, not only in high school and on last season's State varsity, but on numerous athletic teams.

Martin Callum, who ended last season with the State varsity as a guard, will also have a chance to compete for the pivot spot on this year's team. Seeing action in only a few games last year, he did not have much opportunity to show his speed and eye. Bill Plutte, massive guard of the last two seasons has slowed down considerably since last year, but with training and practice he should work off his excess weight and be able to play his old game. Kenny Johnson, veteran of three seasons, will be a defense wall on the rear of the court, and he will be aided by Ed Barbano, also a three year veteran.

J.V.'s PLAY ALSO

The junior varsity and Flying A's will also have their first opportunity to display their ability Friday night, the Jayvees meeting the Signal Oil Co. five and the Flying A's taking on an athletic club. Mirande will put the same team on the floor that was drubbed last year by the same Oilers, the Flying A's being composed of veterans and new men.

TIME OUT

By Tom Thorpe
Sports Editor

JAYVEE'S LAST GAME . . .

With the aid of Jupiter Pluvius, inexperience, lack of material and no water bucket, Coach Tom Bragg and his Junior Varsity football team (all eleven of 'em) embark on their last game of the season this afternoon. These sixty minute men will journey to Roberts Field to engage in a gridiron affray with the S. F. J. C. Lambs . . . Yessir, Bragg's brood play on the State field today, whatta trip! . . . Participating in the melee for dear old State will be such gridiron dignitaries as: Mattison, Og, Blum, Delma, Oulette, Marks, Cummings, Tex, Button, Kelly, Hutchinson and etc. . . . Today is an important event in the history of this rugged Junior Varsity, not only is it playing its last game for Almamammy, but it will be the best game of their season. . . . In case you're not busy this p. m., why not take a run over to Roberts Field around 3:30 and watch the Silver Ripple (runner-ups to the Golden Tide) display their talent and versatility. . . . Maybe next year when State puts out their varsity you'll be able to say, "See that guy? I knew him when!" . . .

GOOD IDEA . . .

Smith's idea of having Beseman and Harkness in the East-West game this New Year's Day sounds alright . . . By the way, Ed, your column has improved grammatically and otherwise a great deal . . . Who's writing your stuff? . . .

INTRA (WPA) MURAL . . .

Give a WPA muralist a brush, a blank wall and a can of paint and he's in his glory . . . Give Dean Cox a pencil, a blank piece of paper, a few minutes, and he is in my hair. . . . Here's the dope: Basketball INTRAMURAL starts next week, and entries must be in immediately to Dave Schutz, Dan Farmer or D.J. . . . INTRAMURAL boxing tournament will commence right soon with Farmer and Yeager in charge. . . . INTRAMURAL wrestling is being figured on for the Spring semester and is scheduled to start around February (Xmas isn't here yet and the Dean has jumped over to February) . . . Then comes the INTRAMURAL track and field meet and following these splurges of athletic endeavor, we see that INTRAMURAL baseball, INTRAMURAL tennis and INTRAMURAL golf occupy the spotlight when the 1938 streamlined model of sunshine comes filtering through the clouds. . . . Pluvius rains outside, Cox reigns inside . . . Ho hum! . . .

THIS'LL BOWL YOU OVER . . .

California looks towards the Rose Bowl; Santa Clara edges towards the Sugar Bowl; somebody mentions the Dust Bowl; then we have the Orange Bowl and also a Rice Bowl; maybe there is also a Finger Bowl . . . That leaves only a couple of bowls left, the Wash Bowl and the Toi#'$ (D——this typewriter! Stuck again!)*

State Boxers Prepare For Charity Show

After the thrilling and hilarious boxing exhibition held last Tuesday, the State boxing team is preparing in earnest for the Charity Boxing Show to be held next Tuesday noon in the Girls' Gym.

The show which will cost 10 cents a head for admission is for the benefit of the Frederick Burk Nursery. It will consist of about 10 bouts between the pugilists of State. Dan Farmer's boxing class will present five bouts which will be the following: Schwarz vs. Hammond, Werner vs. Harvey, Kelnhofer vs. Pierri, Bain vs. Thomas, and Martin vs. McCoy. A suitable opponent is being hunted for the sensational, slugging middleweight, John Cronin.

ALL WELCOME

Any student with a yen for boxing should sign up with Mr. Farmer as soon as possible so that he can be given an opponent for next Tuesday.

When asked about the show, Manager Carl Yeager was enthusiastic in his comment. "Those who attend will not only see a great show," he declared, "but will really help the kids down in the nursery. I hope the gym will be packed to the rafters."

LAST FIGHTS GOOD

The exhibition last Tuesday proved that the students of State go for boxing. The fine attendance helped the boxers in giving a fine performance. The bout between Maury Schwarz and Billy Hammond had the fans in an up-roar. The next time they meet, however, they'll go at it hammer and tongs.

The results of the charity show will determine the positions the members of the team will fight on the Block "S" gigantic boxing carnival on December 1.

This show will probably be the greatest boxing program that State has ever witnessed. Boxers from San Mateo and San Francisco J. C. will tangle with the stars of State. Later, the winners of the show will meet foes from across the bay.

ALL-INTRAMURAL

Next Monday's issue will carry the All-Intramural squad for this year. There has been a large amount of talent in the competition, and those making the team will deserve the mention.

TEN CENTS

Let "your dime be their dime" . . . Attend the boxing show in the gym Tuesday noon and see a great show for a nominal fee . . . Give the kids in Frederic Burk a break . . .

BLEACHER COACHES CONDEMNED

Says Adieu Until 1938

Yeah, I know I'm all through! I know that some boys with short pants and a hardwood floor are taking my place, but before I leave the scene altogether I'm gonna get my two cents worth in! Where's my pants? Well, I'll tell you. I was just in the midst of turning my suit in, as one usually does at the end of the season, when I began thinking about our past games and the attitude that some wiseguys took concerning our consistent losing. The more I thought about it the sorer I got, and by the time I got my pants off I was so griped that I looked for something to hit somebody with and that's when the candid cameraman snapped me; my pants off and a club in my hand!

Boy, I'm telling you, if I could of gotten my mitts on some of these Bleacher Coaches right then and there I would have been on trial for murder! I'm out there playing because I like the game and I want to be the proud possessor of a Block "S", not a member of the Three "B" Society! What's the Three "B" Society? It's a Babe, a Bottle and a Blanket! Some of you guys sat up there in the grandstand this past season with a Rose in one hand and Four Roses in the other, and then had the guts to come down to us afterwards and try to tell us how to play the game. Some of these Monday-morning Quarterbacks in such a sloppy condition they thought the referee was an escaped convict with the stripes on the wrong way! I admit that some of the decisions were a form of "high class robbery" but that's beside the point.

Then there's the time quite a disagreeable odor was being thrown around regarding the Coaches. That was the pay-off! Whenever a team starts losing, some brainstorm gets the idea he wants to fire the coaches and doesn't even offer a constructive criticism in an effort to help the situation. If some people would use up as much energy trying to do some good for their school, instead of using that energy to do some harm, we'd all be a lot better off and I wouldn't have to speak my little piece.

Out of the eight games we played we lost six, tied one and won one. So what? We did our best, the coaches did their best and by G—— some of you monkeys have the nerve to say the team's lousy, the coaches are lousy and everything else is lousy! It's guys like you that make this place a helluva world to live in, and if the truth were known, you might be the only "lousy" part in this institution. No doubt reverberations will resound from corridor to corridor because of this little speech of mine, but I'm ready for it, no doubt it's questionable in taste and probably not in good journalistic style, but it's the way I feel so that's that!

You might bear this in mind; I may be through for this season, but come around next year and you'll see the same fight, the same attitude and if we lose 150 ball games I'll still feel the same way! Now get together and see if you can do your basketball team some good and I'll see you around sometime.

J.V. Gridders Meet S.F.J.C. "Lambs" Today

With the 0-0 tie from last Friday's skirmish under their belts, the Junior Varsity gridders, under the leadership of Coach Tom Bragg, meet the S. F. J. C. reserves on Roberts Field this afternoon at 3:30.

Lack of enthusiasm has played the major role in the downfall of this idea to have a Junior Varsity football team at State. Bragg has been faced with the problem of having enough men turn out for practice all season and the fact that only eleven men showed up for the game against Lowell substantiates the belief that the plan is futile.

SIXTY MINUTE MEN

One of the most admirable things about this situation is: Despite the lack of support, both from the students and the material the team played their ball games, and played sixty minutes of them.

The game this afternoon marks the close of the season and although the Baby Gaters will go in the underdog, it is hoped by Bragg and all concerned that they emerge victorious. Possible starting line-up for the affray follows: Oulette, Blum, Og, Tex, Mattison, Marks, Thorpe, Cummings, Ewers, Kelly, and Hutchinson.

CRUCIAL TODAY

The outcome of today's game will decide whether State's attempt to beat the Junior College in football succeeds, if only by the Junior Varsity. According to members of the team, they will be out there doing their best and only hope that a few students come out and give them a little moral support.

INTRAMURAL MEN ENTER PLAYOFFS

Climaxing seven weeks of play, the intramural footballers swing into their semi-final round today at noon when the Block "S" eleven tangles with the Purple Speedsters on the upper field.

The other bracket will bring together the Rover Boys and Farmer's Gnomes, who will play tomorrow, providing the Rover Boys win their postponed contest with the Weeke's Men gridders. This re-play takes place today at eleven.

BLOCKMEN-ROVER BOYS TIE

Although there have been only three divisions during the actual play, a tie for first place in Division I between the Block "S" and the Rover Boys resulted in placing four squads in the next-to-last round.

Farmer's gnomes, undefeated in their league, won the Division II championship without a struggle. The Purple Speedsters nosed out the Ramblers in Division III, thereby earning their place in the playoffs.

NOTICE

The basketball manager needs two or three assistants. All fellows interested in being an assistant manager report to Coach Dan Farmer or Manager Charles Martin. Chance to earn Block "S".

The baby of the family, Ann, is played by Mary Lowell. She is an ardent admirer of the famous Rossetti, and wins the affection of her sister's artist who gives her a painting of Rossetti's.

Bob Marks plays the role of Roger, the only son. Accidentally meeting the next door girl, Joan, who is played by Marsel Cave, Roger ruins his mother's dinner plans by going out with Joan.

SAGGITTARIUS SAYS—

Our nomination for the greatest piece of anti-war propaganda in the last few years goes to Al Jolson for his rendition of the old World War tear-jerker, "My Buddy". The Jolson vocal cords which twang like a rusty musical saw, emit the usual synthetic-pathos laden tones which this alleged entertainer uses in all his hiding-broken-heart-with-smile songs. We know of no better way of dissuading prospective militarists than by assuring them that, come a war, they would be deluged by such vocal abortions for the duration of festivities.

NEXT COMES COHAN

Closely following Mr. Jolson comes George M. Cohan, visual proof that not only are suckers born at the rate of one a minute but automatically head for Broadway like spawning salmon returning to the old stamping grounds. Who but a bunch of suckers could stomach Cohan's mumbo-jumbo about "Over There" and what the bally Yanks are going to do and assuring us that they bloody well wouldn't come back until it was over over there. Mr. Cohan didn't have to worry about coming back because he never got as far out into the Atlantic as the light-ship anyway. "Over There," inspired, perhaps, by Mr. Cohan's song, lie boxes full of bones and on those bones still cling tattered bits of khaki; over here George M. Cohan is busily engaged in impersonating the President on the same old Broadway with the same old suckers guffawing in the audience.

AND THEN CANTOR

While we are on the subject of Great American Entertainers, we might as well put in a plug for Eddie Cantor, exponent of bug-eyed bravado. Mr. Cantor, who counts the house and rescinds the passes of hard-working ushers when he is being staged, is the culprit responsible for foisting Bobby Breen on an unsuspecting public. This little punk exudes tears like a squeezed sponge on the slightest provocation and is adept in the business of screwing up the face, clasping the hands, and gazing soulfully to heaven for solace when confronted with some minor tragedy such as only Hollywood can think of.

NOT SO SMART

If the intelligence of a people is measured by the quality of the entertainment which appeals to them, then we must agree with the psychologist who maintains that the established average mental age of the American citizen — which is thirteen years — is about twelve years too high.

Sigma Rho Gamma Meets Tonite

Members of Sigma Rho Gamma held their annual bridge party Friday evening at the home of their president, Lillian Johnson. First prize for the affair was a chromium plated two-division candy dish which was donated by Jenkel Jeweler's. There were also seven other worthwhile prizes given to the winners.

Tickets for the party sold at twenty-five cents each and proceeds will go towards payment of rent of the Phi Lambda Chi House for the group to hold their meetings for the remainder of the year.

Pictures for the group will be taken today at 12:20.
